

About CW RTP

The Child Welfare Research and Training Project (CW RTP) trains Iowa Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) employees; provides outreach to communities; and conducts research. The overall goal is to support those who serve Iowa children, families, and communities.

Through CW RTP, ISU faculty, staff, and students collaborate with the Iowa HHS, Iowa citizens, and other partners. We work together to ensure Iowa's children and families receive services and care informed by best practices that lead to safety and overall wellbeing.
